

Work with a Gazan?

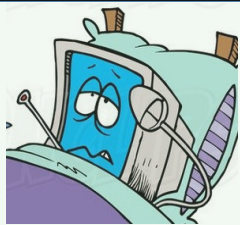

We seek volunteers to commit 30 minutes a week for 1-1 conversation classes with a Gazan over WhatsApp, helping them improve their English, so they can get work over the net in IT or design work or pursue a scholarship outside Gaza. Interested? See the "English and Arabic With a Gazan" tab at www.twingaza.com and then email info@twingaza.com Also please get in touch if you want to pay £20/hr to learn Arabic from a Gazan. For other ways to help Gazans, see "Gaza Twinning Re-launch" at www.twingaza.com

TO GAZANS

Salaam, are you interested in working with a British person to improve your English? It can help you get work. Sick of your old website?

Get a new one— built in GAZA, biggest city of PALESTINE

Gaza- Home of the Middle East's Top Tech Talent

A website built in the UK will cost you £2000+. One built in Gaza will be half that, or less. Why? The Israeli blockade, now in its 19th year, has meant a whole generation of Palestinians have developed skills in the one space that Israel cannot police... CYBERSPACE. The Gazans – a literate and numerate people - the Arabs invented algebra (al-jabr) after all - have turned to learning software in their droves and the Gaza Strip can now boast a booming IT industry. And you can be part of it. Because wages are low, websites are cheap. And Gazans speak excellent English! We worked with Mercy Corps charity Gaza Sky Geeks to identify top developer Saleem Summour, who can build your website at prices starting from just £500. See an example of a £1000 site, built by Saleem, at www.academicaallies.com

GET YOUR DESIGN WORK DONE IN GAZA

Graphic design is an ideal product to be commissioned through cyberspace and many Gazans are gifted artists. The ROZZA agency does beautiful work at great prices. It is run by talented Gazan designer Rozan Khazendar. Rozan did 10 versions of a new logo for One Democratic Palestine, which the members voted on, to arrive at this one— all for £300, along with graphic layouts suitable for badges, cups and table mats.
